Where planning and execution meet

One (supply) chain, one truth

In a logistics world that needs to move faster, smarter and more sustainably, every detail matters. Ride visibility alone just doesn't cut it anymore. Customers now expect real-time updates before, during and after delivery, about both the delivery process and the product or service itself.

Aventeon and Simacan join forces in one integrated digital chain: from the very first planned mile in the Simacan Control Tower to the digital signature at delivery via Aventeon's Logistics1 driver app. No disconnected systems, just true collaboration, with real impact for your operations and your end customer.

Direct operational benefits:

- ▶ One real-time source of truth: from planning to delivery
- ▶ Confident, well-prepared drivers, everything in one app
- ▶ Deviations instantly visible and actionable
- ▶ More first-time-right deliveries: fewer returns, no paperwork
- ▶ Fully compliant, hassle-free

Real use, real results

This partnership is already making a difference for customers like DHL Supply Chain Germany & Alps and Boels Rental. Real-time trip insights, smooth execution and smarter teamwork = visibly improved delivery performance.

1. Fewer delays, faster decisions

Real-time trip visibility plus live and predictive traffic data gives planners control over risks. Planning deviations are instantly flagged, so you can take action without losing time.

2. Well-prepared drivers, every trip

Drivers have everything at hand via in-vehicle navigation, smart assistance, and workflows tailored per order: tasks, dynamic checklists, manuals or documents, routes, customer preferences and exceptions. Proof of delivery (PoD), like photos or signatures, is captured digitally.

3. Ready for EVs and livable cities

Monitor battery levels, range and charging needs in real-time to keep your electric fleet on the move. Deviate from the route? No worries, the system recalculates the impact immediately. This lets you plan and manage even in cities with access or emission zone rules. The integration between Simacan and Aventeon aligns charging, routing and sustainability goals seamlessly.

4. More control, more flexible processes

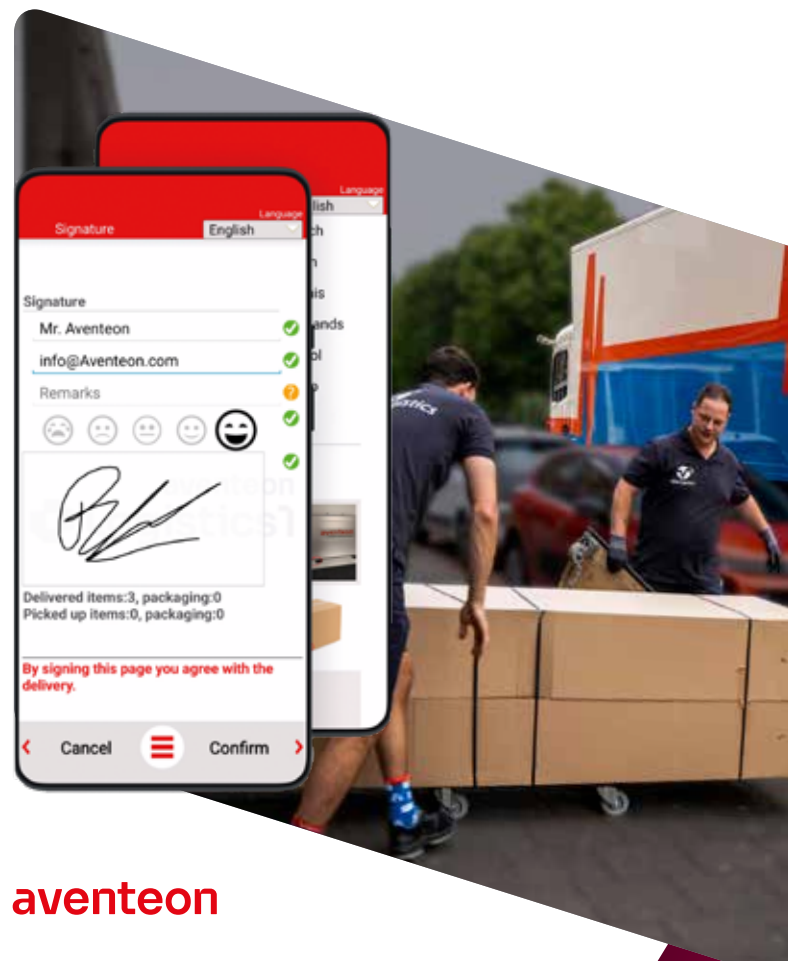

From custom delivery flows to two-way communication between planning and recipients: all links in the chain stay connected. Live updates, adjustable settings and real-time driver feedback keep things running smoothly.

5. More grip, more proof

Easier charter management and compliance with automated documentation. PoDs are available instantly and the admin side is always in order.

6. Flexible for every trip or service

Whether it's supply, returns or specialised field services: you configure flexible workflows to match your operations, without extra tech or complexity.
